Dear Eagles fans,

We had a great year in 2007, but we have some unfinished business.

As a senior, I want to end this year with Big Sky Conference and national championship titles. As alumni, I know you want that, too.

I am writing to make a personal appeal on behalf of your 2008 football team. Please pack our stands! Every game is crucial in our hunt for the Big Sky title, however, there is one in which fan support has an especially huge impact - The University of Montana - scheduled for Oct. 11.

There is no next year and no "we'll get them next time" for us seniors. With a packed house of Eagles fans, it will give us the same advantage that Montana has when they are at home. Our goal this season is to win every game and defend our home territory, and we can't do it without you.

Thanks for helping us settle our unfinished business. See you October 11th!
