Reports, III.

University President’s Report, III.A.
President Levin-Stankevich greeted Chair Budke and all of those in attendance. He welcomed new Student Trustee Stacey Roestel and new ASEWU President Alica Kinne. He announced that the new Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Vickie Shields, will join Eastern on August 30, and the new Director of Development, Kathleen Langenheim, recently joined Eastern.

Dr. Levin-Stankevich reported on numerous activities and meetings, highlights of which included: the president was honored to accept a significant gift to the Dr. Jeffers Chertok memorial fund; and the president experienced productive meetings in the Tri-Cities recently including a meeting with Columbia Basin College president, Lee Thornton. Two major construction projects on campus include the recent completion of the new computing building with the grand opening planned for Tuesday, October 19, and the construction of the new visitor’s center which will create a grand entrance and convenient information/meeting place for visitors.

The President’s Cabinet Retreat on August 9 and 10 was extremely productive, and several people have said it was the best Cabinet Retreat they had attended. The facilitator did a great job of helping the cabinet understand how to work together, how to deal with conflict inherent to universities, and how to have honest conversations that result in more effective solutions for the university as a whole.
The theme of the retreat, creating an environment for student success, seems to have been embraced by all. Additional topics discussed at the retreat were the Academic Strategic Plan, long term sustainment of enrollment, measurement of student success, and how to allocate funds toward this goal of creating an environment for student success.

Also of significant note to the EWU community: Eastern’s KEWU radio station was named Small Jazz Station of the Year recently, which is an excellent demonstration of their quality; and the EWU University Press was invited to join the American Association of University Presses, which will result in their having access to a larger number of competitive authors. President Levin-Stankevich also pointed out to board members that they have each been given a 2005-06 EWU Campus Planner. Dean of Students, Daniel Pugh, began this program several years ago. The planner, which includes policies and university information, is given to all new students each fall quarter.

The second part of the President’s Report was a progress report from the Provost’s Advisory Committee on Assessment and Accountability, represented by Dr. Barbara Alvin and Dr. Lynn Briggs. A handout was distributed outlining the report. Dr. Alvin and Dr. Briggs explained that assessment is now incorporated into all accreditation activities of the university, and it is also being tied into the Academic Strategic Plan. CAS (Council for the Advancement of Standards) standards are also being used to assess programs in Student Affairs, Academic Advising and the Academic Support Center. Then Vice President Levin-Stankevich began using the CAS standards several years ago as a way to incorporate assessment and accountability into programs in Student Affairs. The Advisory Committee hopes that additional programs and departments across the university will begin using CAS standards. The President’s Advisory Committee asked the Board of Trustees to support their recommendations that: 1) all units of the university develop strategic plans; 2) all units engage in self assessment that aligns with CAS standards when applicable; and, 3) all units utilize the database for warehousing institutional data. The Board of Trustees discussed the external sources who ask Eastern for accountability, such as the Higher Education Board’s measures of accountability for state institutions and the Office of Financial Management’s performance standards that are part of the budget process. Chair Budke called for a resolution to support the three recommendations of the assessment and accountability advisory committee as outlined above.

Motion 08-01-05: Motion by Trustee Ortega; seconded by Trustee Roestel. The motion carried.
Action: It was recommended that this topic become part of the regular Strategic Plan Update at Board of Trustees meetings.

Trustees’ Reports, B.

Academic Affairs Committee.
Trustee Ortega reported that the agenda for yesterday evening's Academic Affairs Committee focused on the interrelated themes of student centeredness and student success. Two presentations outlined current initiatives that represent these themes. The first, a Microsoft Corporation grant-funded partnership between Eastern and the Cheney School District, "Learning Transformed: a Partners in Learning Proposal". The goal of this five-year, technology-enhanced, action research initiative is to use data accurately in accessing math and language arts learning gaps in middle and high school students and to identify and formulate effective and individualized remediation strategies. The second presentation described Eastern's "Program Leading to Undergraduate Success" known as PLUS. Offered at the Academic Support Center on the Cheney campus, the mission is to enhance EWU students' educational performance in General University Required Courses in small group interactive settings. The PLUS program has served more than 3500 student participants since 1998, with very LITTLE FUNDS. In addition to these presentations, several Academic Affairs updates were reported. Written report attached for the record.

Advancement Committee

Trustee Mikkelsen reported the following information about the Advancement Committee meeting that occurred yesterday: It was a pleasure to meet Kathleen Langenheim, the new Director of Development. Everyone is looking forward to working with her. There was a review of fundraising efforts over the last year, which saw a 50% increase in gifts in excess of $10,000. The total gifting was 3.2 million, which is consistent with prior years. The committee also briefly discussed annual giving, and there will be a follow-up in that area in the future. Trustee Mikkelsen reported that a productive conversation occurred regarding branch campuses in general. Ms. Mikkelsen thanked the staff for putting all of the informative together for this meeting, and for providing the opportunity for such helpful dialogue. Trustee McReynolds commented that this is a good model for how the committee meetings should be structured, and that board members would like to continue to have these productive discussions.

Business and Finance Committee

Trustee Tanaka was unable to attend due to a scheduling conflict. Trustee Budke reported that the internal audit report was presented and discussed. It was also reported that the Investment Advisory Committee meets to evaluate the university’s investment portfolio and the endowment portfolio. The Investment Advisory Committee is searching for an additional member.

Student Affairs Committee

Trustee Kauffman reported that it was a privilege to fill in for Trustee Zozaya-Geist as chair of the Student Affairs Committee. Ms. Kauffman reported that productive discussion occurred regarding the following topics: an NCAA grant awarded to Intercollegiate Athletics with a focus on student health and leadership. This $30,000, three year project will focus on addressing high risk alcohol behavior with athletes and fraternity and sorority members. This project has the opportunity to have campus wide impact. A future goal is to gain additional funding to sustain the project into the future. The Faculty Fellow for Diversity position is in the negotiation process, and the staff is hopeful that an agreement will be reached with the finalist candidate.

The President’s Advisory Committee on Diversity was reorganized last spring. They have taken inventory of existing diversity initiatives on campus, and in doing so noticed there is not a coordinated approach. They had a retreat recently facilitated by Raymond Rayes, which resulted in the establishment of numerous committee goals: to be more involved in the diversity grant process including recognition for grant recipients at the September Gathering breakfast; sponsoring training sessions at the annual Gearing Up For Fall Conference; and to help organize a forum where students and board members can interact regarding student issues and concerns. The committee discussed the Board of Trustees Members’ desire and commitment to meet with students who have concerns about diversity at Eastern. The board members would like to meet with students as soon as possible in an open forum. The President’s Advisory Committee on Diversity will help coordinate the forum in order to give students the opportunity to express themselves and give board members opportunity to listen and interact with students regarding diversity.

The committee also heard reports from Alicia Kinne, the new Associated Student Government President, Pam Parks, the Interim Athletic Director, and Shantelle Jackson, a Residence Hall Coordinator. Trustee Kauffman pointed out the significance of Pam Parks being named Interim Athletic Director at Eastern, breaking a glass ceiling, at the same time that the NCAA is celebrating its 25th anniversary of recognizing women’s sports. Trustee Kauffman acknowledged the tribute made to Daniel Pugh, Dean of Students, who has made many significant contributions to Eastern. He is wished well with his departure.

Joint Governing Board
Trustee McReynolds reported the board has not met recently, but he has been in communication with the members and hopes they will meet in the coming months.

Presidential Search
Chair Budke reported that the Presidential Search Committee has been formed, with 17 members representing important Eastern constituent groups. Of significance to mention is that the search committee consultant said he has never seen such commitment and loyalty to an institution as he has seen with the committee members here at Eastern. Trustee Budke acknowledged and appreciates very much the dedication and time of the committee members. A written report is attached for the record.

Chair Budke announced that Trustee McReynolds will be inducted into the University of Washington Hall of Fame in their communications department in October. Congratulations were given.
Chair Budke welcomed new Student Trustee, Stacey Roestel, and presented him with a gift of appreciation and welcome.
